

ADAGIO ANNUAL REPORT 2025–2026

Introduction

Adagio commenced the academic session 2025–2026 with immense enthusiasm, passion, and dedication towards the art of dance and performance. The society continued to uphold its legacy of discipline, creativity, and artistic excellence by welcoming fresh talent and encouraging members to explore their potential through choreography and expression.

The year proved to be extremely memorable for the society as Adagio not only strengthened its bond as a team but also showcased exceptional performances throughout the session. With countless hours of practice, teamwork, and determination, the society successfully carried forward its vision of storytelling through dance.

Auditions and Training Sessions

The session began with auditions conducted in September to welcome the new members of Adagio. The auditions were organised smoothly, where an easy yet expressive choreography was taught by the core team members to ensure a fair and transparent selection process.

The response from students was overwhelming, and the auditions turned out to be highly successful. Talented dancers from different backgrounds became a part of the Adagio family, bringing fresh energy and creativity to the society.

Following the auditions, intensive training sessions were conducted for the newcomers. These sessions included cardio exercises, stretching drills, choreography practice, flexibility training, and stage presence development. These sessions helped strengthen discipline, coordination, and teamwork among all members.

Annual Production 2025–2026

In November 2025, Adagio began working on its much-awaited annual production under the guidance and choreography of Mr. Joe Matthew.

The theme for this year’s production was “The Salem Witch Trial”, a powerful and dramatic concept exploring fear, injustice, societal manipulation, and the harsh realities faced by individuals accused during witch trials. Through impactful storytelling, expressive movements, and intense choreography, the production aimed to leave a lasting impact on the audience.

The team dedicated months of hard work, commitment, and creativity to bring the production alive on stage. Every rehearsal focused on improving synchronisation, technique, formations, and emotional expression.

NRITYAKRITI 2026

Adagio proudly hosted NRITYAKRITI 2026, where talented dance societies from various prestigious colleges participated and showcased their remarkable performances.

The event witnessed an atmosphere full of excitement, creativity, and healthy competition. Every participating team performed exceptionally well and impressed the audience with their artistic brilliance.

After an intense competition, Nritya – the choreography society of Sri Venkateswara College emerged as the winning team with their outstanding performance, stage presence, and technical excellence.

Participation in Inter-College Competitions

Throughout the academic session, Adagio actively participated in various inter-college competitions and cultural events organised by reputed institutions and universities.

These opportunities allowed members to gain exposure, confidence, and valuable performance experience. The society continued to represent itself with dedication, passion, and teamwork at every platform.

Achievements and Highlights

- Successfully conducted auditions for the session 2025–2026.
- Organised regular training and practice sessions for members.
- Prepared and performed the annual production “The Salem Witch Trial”.
- Hosted the annual choreography competition NRITYAKRITI 2026.
- Witnessed participation from several prestigious colleges.
- Nritya – Sri Venkateswara College won the competition.
- Actively participated in various inter-college competitions throughout the year.

Conclusion

The academic session 2025–2026 has been a year full of growth, creativity, hard work, and unforgettable memories for Adagio. From welcoming new members to creating a compelling annual production and successfully hosting NRITYAKRITI 2026, the society has continued to evolve and excel.

Every dancer, core member, and contributor played a significant role in making this journey successful. Adagio looks forward to achieving even greater milestones in the future and continuing its journey of expressing stories, emotions, and art through dance.

Adagio continues to dance with passion, unity, and purpose.